

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The invention concerns a method for obtaining carbon nanotubes by CVD growth on nano/micrometric supports, characterized in that it comprises : adding a carbon source compound containing a catalyst, under an inert gas and hydrogen current. The invention is applicable to the manufacture of multiple-scale composites.